School Board Takes Steps To Sell Bonds

Resolution Okays Advertising Of Bids for $270,000 Issue

Monessen School Board voted unanimously yesterday on a resolution calling for a $275,000 bond issue needed to pay off back debts and meet current expenses.

The resolution authorized the advertising of bids for the bonds after the bond prospectus is prepared by Hosack, Specht, Muetzel & Wood, a Pittsburgh accounting and auditing firm.

The board hopes to take final action on the sale of the bonds at a meeting scheduled for May 28.

Supt. Joseph Pallone said the bonds are needed to pay off a "floating" short-term debt of $120,000, which has been carried on for several years, and to pay an accumulation of back debts.

Dr. Pallone pointed out the estimated revenue between April 1 and June 30, the end of the school year, is expected to be $159,000. Expenditures for this period are esumated at $415,000, meaning $276,000 is needed to end the current year without a deficit.

Explains Indebtedness

The resolution stated that $60,000 is needed "for the purpose of funding unfunded indebtedness incurred for the payment of current operating expenses; $155,000 . . . for indebtedness heretofore incurred in the making of permanent improvements to school buildings . . . and $60,000 . . . for the cost of making major improvements to the school playfield by the installation of lights and paving the cost of new furnaces in the school buildings."

The resolution calls for general obligation bonds of $1,000 each, dated June 1, 1957, with the first bonds maturing on June 1, 1959. The district will pay $15,000 each year from 1959 to 1976 and $5,000 in 1977. The interest rate has yet to be determined.

Yesterday's meeting lasted about 12 minutes. Directors present were John Lancas, president, and Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, Sr., Nicholas Cullen, Alaxander Kachmarik, Romeo Furio and John Kossar. The seventh member, Perry Cozza, is hospitalized.

Bridge Freeing Date Is Studied

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state Highways Department will decide next week on the date it will free the state's 10 remaining toll bridges.

A spokesman said May 20 is being considered by the department for the removing of fees. Previously, Secretary Joseph J. Lawler had announced the tolls would be lifted on May 15 or 'a few days thereafter."

A bill approved by the Legislature which would have lifted tolls May 30 was vetoed by Gov. George M. Leader last month because of the Highway Department's plan to free the bridges before that date.

Radiation Victim Complains of Loss of Friends

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—One of four men exposed to radiation through broken radioactive pellets said today the effect on his family has been painfully evident.

H. E. Northway, former branch manager of the M. W. Kellogg Co., a construction firm licensed to use radioactive substances, said he and the other men were exposed last March 13.

Northway said he was afraid no one will buy his home if he decided to leave Houston, and the four men were told their jobs would be "terminated" at the plant when it was closed immediately after the incident.

"I have lost contact with many friends and acquaintances, he said. "It has gotten so no one will come and visit us."

His children, Mrs. Northway said, are without playmates. She said one of her children asked her why the other children were "so mean to us?" She said she couldn't explain.

Northway said five suits of clothes were taken from him by investigators and his home was stripped of all materials suspected of being contaminated.

T. J. Haycock of the Atomic Energy Commission said some contamination was found in the home of one of the men and "we suspect contamination in the home of another."

Mrs. Yoder, whose husband was transferred to the New York office of the Kellogg firm, said a small spot of contamination was found on her living room rug.

Northway received radiation burns in the groin.

Three Children Burn to Death

COLUMBUS (UP)—Three young children of an Air Force major died when a $10,000 fire swept their home at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base early today.

The victims were Donald, 9; Barry, 5; and Bruce, 4; children of Major and Mrs. Nelson O'Beirne.

Local Motorist Suffers Cut in Spur Accident

A Monessen motorist, Rudolph Forty, 35, of 426 Third St., suffered a light laceration of the head early this morning when the car he was driving ran into the rear of a car operated by Anthony A. Crisi, 21, of 1524 Meadow Ave., Monessen, State Police reported.

The two cars were traveling on the Turnpike Spur two miles east of Belle Vernon about 3:10 this morning when the accident occurred.

Forty was treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and released. Crisi, police said, suffered no apparent injuries.

Damage amounted to $700.

In a Uniontown accident yesterday, cars operated by Gene Austin, 28, of Somerset, and John Theakston, 30, of Belle Vernon, collided at a Connellsville Ave. intersection, police said.

According to information, Austin had halted his car for a caution light at the five-corner intersection when a vehicle behind, driven by Theakston hit the first machine.

SENATE TO PROBE USW

Group to Seek Data on Use of Election Funds

WASHINGTON (UP) — Investigators of the Senate Labor Rackets Committee sought today to determine if United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald used funds of the union in his successful campaign for re-election early this year.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.), a member of the committee, said Donald C. Rarick, McKeesport, Pa., who lost to McDonald by less than a two-to-one margin, paid his own expenses and the committee wants to know if McDonald did also.

The USW president already has notified the committee that he and other officers of the steel union would "welcome" an investigation of the organization's affairs.

Nothing To Conceal

In a telegram to Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the rackets committee, McDonald said:

"We have nothing to hide. There is no corruption in our union. No outside person exercises any influence over our affairs."

The New York Times said Wednesday that the Senate committee was looking into possible ties between McDonald and Philip Weiss, head of a New York oil products firm who was convicted of conspiracy in connection with a ring which peddled stolen automobile parts.

Rarick, an employe of U.S. Steel Corporation's Irvin Works was nominated to oppose McDonald by a rank - and - file faction which opposed a $2 a month increase in union dues. The official count of the ballots cast in the Election held Feb. 12 showed McDonald polled 404,172 votes to 223,516 for Rarick.

Last month, Rarick said he had "concrete evidence" of irregularities in the vote "on the local level." He refused to detail his charges, saying he did not "want to tip my hand."

USW Cooperation Pledged

In his telegram to McClellan, McDonald said that if a full-scale investigation of the USW is ordered, he "will extend every possible cooperation to the committee and its staff."

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), another member of the rackets committee, said he has asked for an investigation in Luzerne county, Pa., "to determine the validity of reports I have received indicating collusion between certain union officials and coal operators."

British Spinster Is 'Museum Piece'

LONDON (UP)—Things seems to be looking up for British women.

Miss Irene Hilton, organizing secretary of the Women's employment Federation, said Friday there are one and one-seventh boys for every girl in the British Isles.

"The spinster is very rapidly becoming a museum piece," she said.

Open House at C-M Hospital To Open May 12

Open house will be held at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital during National Hospital Week, it was announced today by Russell M. Stone, administrator.

The week will be held from Sunday, May 12 through Saturday, May 18.

The theme of the week is "Careers That Count." Hospital personnel are gathering facts about the many career opportunities in hospitals.

Guided tours will be held on Sunday, May 12 with organizations given the opportunity to attend in a body. The tours will be conducted by members of the Hospital's Ladies Auxiliary from 1 to 4 and from 6 to 9 p. m. on that day.

Members of organizations touring the hospital on that day will receive free chest X-rays and blood types in addition to observing demonstrations in the care, treatment and evaluation of patients' medical problems.

Rostraver Junior High Jacket Squabble Touches Off Protest

Rostraver school officials yesterday "confiscated" 36 jackets awarded to Junior High athletes more than a month ago, apparently to protect the boys eligibility in WPIAL sports.

The action touched off an angry protest which almost disrupted classes at the Junior High.

James O. Leeper, school principal, summoned the athletes to the gymnasium yesterday morning and informed them they would have to give the jackets back immediately.

"He said he was sorry, but he just had to do it," said Joe Pollins, Jr., a football-basketball player from Webster. "Some of the boys were so angry that they ripped out the pockets before they handed them over."

Parents Upset

Joe's mother and dad were upset because their son had to return home without a jacket despite chilly temperatures. So did most of the other athletes, some of whom had worn tee-shirts.

School officials refused to discuss the situation. Leeper declined to talk to either parents or reporters about the matter.

E. F. Carter, superintendent of schools, was also unavailable for comment.

However it was understood that the jackets were taken to avoid a ruling from the PIAA which might hold the athletes ineligible for future interscholastic competition.

According to PIAA rules: "A junior high school pupil who accepts, from any source, a sweater, jersey, or any other award exceeding two dollars in value, other than those usually awarded by the school, such as medals, ribbons and letters, shall be ineligible for any inter-scholastic athletic competition."

Rostraver officials apparently felt that rule had been violated.

Most of the money for the jackets was earned by the boys themselves, who conducted several fund-raising projects in recent weeks. However $150 reportedly came

Judge Bauer Is Endorsed by County Attorneys

Eighty-nine Westmoreland County attorneys, including a number prominent in Republican politics, have endorsed Judge Edward G. Bauer for a second term as common pleas judge.

Judge Bauer has for many years been a leading figure in the Democratic courthouse political machine. He is a candidate for both Democratic and Republican nominations at the May 21 primaries.

Among his endorsers is District Atty. L. Alexander Sculco, who is teamed with Judge Bauer as the machine's slate for the two judgeships at stake.

The statement backing Judge Bauer describes him as being "honest, just and fair." It says that he is "capable, learned and experienced".

"Judge Bauer has never missed a day of court," the lawyers said, "and he was eight years on the bench before he took a vacation of any kind . . . No one is required to wait for months in Judge Bauer's court for a decision. His docket of cases is always up to date."

Calling him "reputable and patriotic", the statement says:

"Judge Bauer is not a carouser, and he is in every sense of the phrase a family man. He is a

Thousands File Past Bier of Senator McCarthy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The body of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, the man who became a hero and an epithet, lay in state today at a Pennsylvania Avenue funeral home holding a rosary.

Thousands of friends, associates and the simply curious were expected to file past the bier of the 47-year-old Republican before funeral services are held Monday in the Senate. The funeral home was scheduled to be open to the public 12 hours today and Sunday.

Senators, cab drivers and mink-coated socialites were among the first persons who paid their final respects to McCarthy Friday night when his body was first placed on public view.

McCarthy, who died Thursday night at nearby Bethesda Naval Hospital, was brought during the day to Joseph Gawler's Sons funeral Home — a block from the White House where McCarthy seldom was welcome.

More than 500 persons walked solemnly past the heavy casket of darkly-polished wood between 6 and 10 p.m.

A Marine guard in dress blues stood at each end at attention with his rifle grounded and bayonet fixed. McCarthy had served in the Marines in World War II.

Nicksich Quits Recreation Post Effective May 31

George Nicksich, the city's recreation director since last October, has submitted his resignation, effective May 31.

The resignation was read last night during a meeting of the Recreation Board.

Nicksich, a former Pittsburgh Steeler football star, said he was giving up his job as director to enter private business.

Stephen Piersiel, chairman of the Board, said that an announcement will be made later on applications for the vacancy.

Nicksich was a Monessen High graduate who earned his degree at St. Bonaventure College. He was a football lineman for two seasons with the Steelers.

Soviet Shakeup Rumors May Be Clarified Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. officials said today Moscow may reveal next week whether the Soviet Union's high command is undergoing an important shakeup.

The Supreme Soviet (Parliament) on Tuesday will meet to consider Russia's economic problems and other affairs of state. These meetings frequently have disclosed important shifts in the Kremlin hierarchy.

Officials also are awaiting word on whether any high Soviet leader might have been absent Wednesday at the May Day parade in Moscow. No reports have been received here yet that any Soviet bigwigs were missing. The official Soviet photograph of the parade reviewing party is still to be published and cameras were barred from the parade area.

One name is missing in the speculating about a possible Kremlin reshuffle. It is Nikita Khrushchev, powerful first secretary of the Communist Party.

His star was reported to have lost some luster during last fall's Hungarian revolt, and general satellite unrest. But harsh repressive measures, however, seem to have strengthened his grip as the No. 1 man inside the Soviet Union.

This Supreme Soviet meeting also could shed some light on recent rumors that former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's protege, may become premier again.

Turnpike Trial

HARRISBURG (UP)—Dauphin County District Attorney Huette F. Dowling has tentatively set June 4 for opening of the trial of some 22 persons charged with conspiracy in the alleged 19 million dollar Turnpike Commission swindle.

Woman Killed in Two-car Accident

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Bertha Fonner, 65, of Rossiter, Indiana County, was killed and two other women were injured late Friday when their automobile was struck from behind by another car on Route 19 at the entrance to Thorn Hill School near Warrendale.

The three women, all teachers at the correctional institution, were leaving the school for the week end when the accident occurred.

DETROIT (UP)—Production at Chrysler Corp. was virtually halted Friday by a two-day walkout of interplant truck drivers.

Fall Off Roof Really Started Something Here

DURANGO, Colo. (UP)—V. L. Archuleta, an employe of the Reliable Roofers, fell while working on the roof of the Gulf Oil Co.'s downtown office building Friday, setting off this chain reaction:

The 10-gallon bucket of tar he was carrying spilled its boiling contents onto the roof and onto a brand new jeep below, setting them aflame.

Moses Gonzales, Archuleta's assistant, quickly sized up the situation and raced to report the fire. He fell from the roof and injured a leg.

Someone got to a telephone, but the operator passed the alarm to the LaPlata Fire Volunteers, who answer only calls outside the city.

The volunteers, however, misunderstood the directions and raced off to a Gulf service station north of Durango.

Enroute they were flagged down by an excited person who pointed out the real fire.

Chief F. E. Vilett didn't stand by and watch a building burn even though it was outside his territory. It was put out quickly.

Gulf officials estimated damages at $3,400.

Archuleta, incidentally, wasn't hurt.

Feuding County Democrats Open Up Judgeship Contest in Earnest

Feuding Westmoreland County Democrats began this week to warm up a judgeship contest which is expected to produce plenty of fireworks before the May 21 primary.

The battling got underway with an exchange of angry statements between District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco and his former assistant, Joseph M. Loughran.

Sculco has the backing of the regular Democratic courthouse organization, along with Judge Edward G. Bauer, for the two judgeships to be voted on in the primary.

Loughran, who claims the organization welshed on a promise to make him a judge, is running independently.

In all, there are six candidates for judge in the county and all are running on both party tickets.

Sculco started the shooting in a speech in his home town of New Kensington in which he tried to answer each of Loughran charges that he has been a do-nothing district attorney who hasn't prosecuted a single case in eight years in office.

Sculco admitted this but declared that "it's not the duty of the D. A. to try cases."

"There's no D. A. outside of television and radio that goes out after criminals with a gun," he declared.

Turning on Loughran, Sculco charged that his former assistant is a man "who turns against the organization and his employer."

"Can you trust such a man?" he asked.

Loughran has charged that Sculco is dominated by his chief detective, Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, of Pricedale. But the D. A. replied:

"We have no bosses."

He said he was entitled to a judgeship "because I've earned it".

"I have worked for the Democratic party and the county in 12 years as assistant district attorney and eight years as district attorney," Sculco said.

Loughran fired back at the district attorney in a statement today, charging that the courthouse machine, including Sculco and Turner, is tied up with racketeers.

"Sculco made the remarkable statement that there are no bosses in this county," Loughran said. "He must regard the average voter as a dunce if he expects to sell that to the citizens of Westmoreland County. Not once did Sculco deny the tie-up among Bill Nowe, Tom Tannas, Sam Mannerino and Kelly Mannerino. Not once did he deny that the Manner-

Rostraver Schools to Keep Annexed Pupils

A request that children living in two portions of Rostraver Twp. annexed to Monessen in 1955 be allowed to attend Monessen schools has been turned down in a ruling by the State Council of Education in Harrisburg.

Residents of the annexed areas, along with officials of the Monessen School District, have made the request both in person and in writing the past several months.

The annexation, approved by the Westmoreland County courts in 1955, has made the two adjoining areas of the township's City Park district a part of the City of Monessen. But it did not change the school district boundaries. The annexed areas remained part of the township School District.

Since children living in the area were required to continue attending township schools, the state council was petitioned to transfer the two annexed areas from the township School District to the Monessen School District.

According to Carl E. Seifert, secretary of the state council, the request has been turned down because "the township has committed itself to financial obligations on account of buildings and a loss as represented by the assessed valuation of the proposed annexed property would work an undue hardship on the pupils in the remaining portion of the township."

Dr. Ralph Cherkin, who heads a residents' committee in the annexed areas, has called a meeting of the committee for 8:45 p. m. Monday in the City Building.

Dr. Cherkin said the meeting has been called to discuss the council's ruling and "attempt to find ways and means of making a new approach in our next petition."

"If we can do this, perhaps, the next ruling will be favorable to the Monessen School District," he said.

$150,000 Fire in Downtown Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A six-alarm fire burned out a five-story building along the Monongahela River waterfront in the downtown district today causing damage estimated at $150,000.

One fireman suffered a back injury when he was struck by a falling block of concrete. Several others suffered from smoke inhalation.

Baby Buzzards Safe In Nature Museum

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UP)—Gruesome I and Gruesome II are safely ensconced in the Charlotte Nature Museum and two Charlotte housewives hope they have seen the last of them.

The beady-eyed, smelly pair are the survivors of a trio of baby buzzards left on three consecutive mornings this week on the front porch of the David Lowrance family. Police disposed of the third.

It all began when a prankster left the buzzards, one a day, at the Lowrance home.

Lowrance took the first buzzard to Dr. Herbert Hechenbleikner, city schools science coordinator and biologist. It was dubbed Gruesome I. Mrs. Hechenbleikner telephoned the nature museum and made arrangements for a home for the buzzard.

When Gruesome II showed up at the Lowrance household Tuesday morning, Lowrance took it directly to Hechenbleikner at his office. After work, Hechenbleikner took the bird to the museum.

"He crossed me," his wife said. She was still stuck with Gruesome I and the nature museum thought it had the buzzard she had called about.

When she called the museum again, officials were slightly less than enthusiastic about having one buzzard, much less two. But they reluctantly promised to pick up Gruesome I. They didn't.

Friday, Mrs. Hechenbleikner put little Gruesome in her car and delivered him to the museum. "I twisted their arm, I guess," she said. It's not that she doesn't like animals, she said. Her husband brings them home all the time.

And Gruesome I was rather friendly once he got used to the house.

"He made a nice, sweet little bird-like noise. You'd enjoy hearing it if you didn't have to look at him," she said.

She said she has raised squirrels, rabbits and even rattlesnakes for her scientist husband. And she prefers the rattlers to the baby buzzards.

Mrs. Lowrance, who had to contend with three of them, agrees.

DON'T BE PUSHED

into a quick decision

Any day now a salesman will be ringing your doorbell. His product? Family lots in a new, partially developed cemetery. His argument? Buy now at bargain prices. Buy tonight. There won't be another opportunity. Buy on impulse, the same as you would a five-cent candy bar—yet THIS purchase lasts through eternity.

May we caution you? Don't be pushed into a quick decision. Take a few minutes to talk to any official of any long established and local cemetery . . . to a funeral director in whom you have confidence . . . or to a monument dealer.

Ask their advice. They'll point out many things that the salesman may have forgotten to mention. Like the fact that his cemetery forbids you to follow the traditional American custom of paying proper tribute to departed loved ones by erecting a monument of granite or marble.

This is one time when haste not only makes waste, but often leads to a lifetime of regret and heartache.

All we ask is THINK before you ACT. Don't buy a family cemetery lot anytime, anywhere, on snap judgement.

Twin Daughters Honored at Party

Pat and Pam, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Stankovics, of Main St. observed their third birthday anniversary on Wednesday and in honor of the occasion there was a family dinner party at Peasant Village.

In addition to the two girls, their parents and their little sister, Janet attended.

Legion Post Will Meet on Monday

Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 will meet on Monday evening in the Legion Home. There will be a complete report on the Back to God Easter window art contest.

The men will also make plans for the annual Memorial Day observance at the local cemeteries.

Rotary Club Hears Guttman

Leo Guttman, of Charleroi, was speaker at the Thursday evening dinner meeting held by the Belle Vernon Rotary Club in the social rooms of the First Methodist Church. He spoke on "The Hoover Commission and the Federal Government".

As a member of the committee Guttman pointed out the proposed measures for economy.

Guttman, a Charleroi Kiwanian, was the only guest present and he was the guest of Charles Toteda, president.

Next week the speaker will be George Cieply, executive manager of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce.

Biologist Says Heart 'Banks' Will Be Common

WASHINGTON (UP)—A distinguished biologist believes the day is coming when a person with a bad heart can go to the "bank" and get a replacement.

He also foresees a time when "tailor made molecules" will be available for such purposes as controlling human conception, sex and growth.

The biologist, Dr. Ralph W. Gerard of the University of Michigan, addressed a scientific colloquium at the National Science Foundation here.

He said biology has come a long way since it was christened in 1802. It is now "at the explosion point" and is expanding rapidly into the realsm of physical, psychological and social science.

Blood, bone, eye and cartilege banks already have proved practical. Gerard believes kidney, liver and heart banks will follow although some of the technical problems admittedly are great.

"I believe they will be solved," Gerard said.

He also sees a growing role for "tailor - made molecules"—synthetic organic drugs produced in the laboratory for a multitude of uses.

Gerard made no attempt to list all the possible uses of tailor-made molecules. But he said they might include everything from control of the nervous system to control of conception, sex of offspring and growth.

More Work on Turnpike Spur Is Contemplated

Final completion of the Turnpike Spur, which will link Washington, Pa. with the Pennsylvania Turnpike at New Stanton, took another big step yesterday with the announcement that more sectors of the four-lane highway are contemplated.

Bids will be opened by the state Highways Department next Friday for three more sectors of the spur, including two in Washington and one in Westmoreland counties.

In Harrisburg, the state announced receipt of a low bid of $2,877,091 by Adam Eidemiller, Inc., of Greensburg, for work to be done on Section Eight of relocated Route 31 in Westmoreland County.

The two Washington County sectors on which bids will be opened next week are what is known as Section One of relocated Route 31, a total of 2.85 miles in Somerset and South Strabane townships. The project runs from near Vanceville, south-east of Eighty Four, to near Zediker Station.

Divided Highway

Section One will be a divided highway of reinforced concrete, with one prestressed, reinforced concrete bridge and one I-beam bridge.

A section of the spur from Vanceville to the present western terminus near Bentleyville still is to be completed.

Construction of Section One to the point near Zediker Station will bring the spur practically to Washington, and to a location where it can be connected with the proposed Thruway in and around the city.

The Section Eight improvement as announced yesterday, calls for the construction of four I-beam bridges, one plate girder bridge and the bituminous surfacing of 4.59 miles of Route 31 from the Turnpike intersection near New Stanton to an inter-section on Route 970.

The Section runs from near Wyano, approximately four miles east of West Newton, to a point near the Turnpike intersection.

Bell said that bids on Section Nine, the actual tie-in of the spur with the present Turnpike, also will be opened next Friday.

Yesterday's announcement from Harrisburg means that construction of the spur from near Bentleyville to New Stanton can be completed.

At present the spur sector runs only to Route 51 near Smithton, but work is progressing on Section Seven, which is the link between Smithton and the beginning of Section Eight near Wyano.

inos and Tannas are backing him."

William P. Nowe is a New Kensington politician who reputedly has important connections in both parties. Tannas is city clerk of Arnold, a Democratic stronghold, and also has a record as a slot machine operator. The Mannerinos are New Kensington racketeers.

"Let me complete the record for Mr. Sculco," Loughran continued. "Sculco's top boss is A. B. "Buddy" Turner, chief of county detectives, who openly consorts with the Mannerinos, Tannas, Jack Ross, Monessen's czar of prostitution, and other gentlemen of the same stripe at race tracks and fancy Florida resorts. Buddy and these boys are the bosses.

"I challenge Sculco to meet me on fair ground and openly debate this issue. By his subservience to Buddy Turner and the boys, Sculco has failed to carry out the duties of his office. He claims that if elected judge, he will be the same as he always was. With Turner at the helm, Sculco will be a Turner judge, just as he is a Turner district attorney . . .

"Sculco has been allied with these men so long that he thinks they are the Democratic party. I say the Democratic party belongs to the people of this county. No political boss can ever own the party. Turner tried to keep me out of this race on his own assertion that he picks the judges. I say the voters pick the judges. That has been the American system for a long time and I doubt whether even Buddy and the boys can change that."

The other judgeship candidates are James L. McWherter, of Derry, a former Assemblyman, Avra N. Pershing, Jr., and Robert A. Rial, both of Greensburg. McWherter is a registered Democrat and Pershing and Rial are Republicans.

Pershing achieved county-wide notice by his successful prosecution of the Monessen vote fraud cases in the 1953 election.

In that election Sculco barely nosed out Rial, the Republican nominee for D. A., by only 700 votes out of more than 110,000 cast. Wholesale cheating on Sculco's behalf was discovered in the first precinct of Monessen's Second Ward, and some of the fraudulent votes were included in his winning majority.

As special prosecutor, Pershing sent five members of the election board to jail along with a sixth man known as an active worker for the Democratic machine.

Wayman Church In Campaign to Rebuild Here

In an effort to redevelop the Wayman A.M.E. Church, Reed Ave. and McKee Way, Monessen, which was ravaged by fire in 1955, the pastor, the Rev. Isaac R. Louden, is compiling a book of names of contributors.

The theme of the project will be "Is My Name Written There?" and the pastor is seeking 5,000 names. May 19 will close solicitations.

Contributions may be mailed to the Wayman Redevelopment Fund care of Charles Hagerstrand, First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Monessen.

Dr. B. M. McLinn, presiding elder of the Allegheny District will speak at services Sunday at the church.

Helping with the program will be Dr. O. M. Walton, president of the Council of Churches of Allegheny County and Dr. Jeff Henderson, pastor of the Calvary A.M.E. Church of Braddock.

The church presents a radio broadcast every Sunday at 1 p.m. over Station WESA Charleroi.

Co-chairmen Clyde Wheeler and Major Corley will be aided by John Brice, Church treasurer and Mrs. Margaret Perry, Church secretary.

from the Rostraver Lions Club and another $100 from a student organization at Rostraver Junior High.

"We worked for the jackets and we thought they were ours," said Gordon Natali, a Junior High football player. "We aren't mad at Mr. Leeper, but we think someone should tell us why we can't have what we earned."

William Dolde, Connellsville High principal and president of the WPIAL, admitted quite frankly that he was unaware of the rule. He had indicated that efforts would be made to take the rule off the books.

Albert Ferrara, principal at Donora Junior High and vice-president of the Junior WPIAL also conceded that he did not know of the rule until brought to his attention.

Court Threat

The jackets were handed out to the boys more than a month ago.

According to one source, a protest was registered by persons within the Rostraver school system. However, no Rostraver official would confirm or deny that report today.

At least one parent has threatened to take the matter to court unless the jackets are returned or some public explanation is made.

Reportedly the jackets were stored away in a safe at the Junior High.

The practice of awarding jackets to Junior High players is not uncommon. In recent years Junior High athletes at several valley schools have received such awards. Many school administrators have been under the impression that the awards were permissable if made by some outside group.

Important Elections Held Today in Syria

By UNITED PRESS

The Arab nation of Syria held key elections today that will indicate whether it is on the road to Communism.

The elections were considered by Western diplomats to be far more important than their surface appearance.

Only 200,000 of Syria's three and a half million people were eligible to vote. The elections will decide only four of parliament's 142 seats.

But the issues and candidates were so clearly divided between the left and the right that the results of the voting will be regarded as defining Syria's future course.

It was the first test of the Syrian government's pro-leftist leaning since King Hussein in neighboring Jordan ousted the leftwing of his government last month.

A dispatch from United Press correspondent Joe Morris in Amman said the three kings of the Arab world may meet next week and spawn a brand new Middle East alliance.

Diplomatic sources in Amman said young King Hussein probably would meet with his cousin, King Feisel of Iraq, and King Saud of Saudi Arabia. The meeting might take place when Saud goes to Baghdad May 11 on a state visit or at some less conspicuous place.

Hussein's victory over the pro-Communist camp in his country was emphasized by the U.S. 6th Fleet's action in steaming out of the Middle East Friday just five days after it had arrived.

The fleet, for a while, probably will stay at the most only a days sailing time away from the critical area.

In other Middle East developments:

—Israel made plans to hold an independence celebration with a fireworks display Monday at Eilat. Two Israeli frigates will take part. Israeli reports said the display, first such at the Gulf of Aqaba port since 1948, would demonstrate Israel's determination to keep on using the gulf no matter what Egypt does to prevent it.

—U.S. special envoy James P. Richards flew from Israel to Tunisia for the beginning of the end of his trip to explain the Eisenhower Doctrine. He will visit Morocco and Libya and then report to President Eisenhower in Washington without visiting Syria, Jordan or Egypt.

—Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler (U.S.A. Ret.) left Cairo for New York to report the end of his job of clearing the Suez Canal. Wheeler said he was confident Egypt can and will do a good job operating the 101-mile waterway which he re-opened with a U.N. salvage fleet.

Kneseth Israel In Anniversary

The 49th anniversary of the Kneseth Israel congregation will be marked with a banquet tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock at the Center on Watkins Ave.

Guest speaker will be Rabbi Harold Silver of Temple Emmanuel, Mt. Lebanon. Other speakers will be Rabbi Theodore Stampfer, of the local synagogue, Herman Albert, president of the congregation and Mrs. Herschel Leiber, president of the Kneseth Israel Sisterhood.

A. E. Wilen and Theodore Krause are co-chairmen of the banquet and Adolph Bergstein will serve as toastmaster.

Serving will be done by the B'nai B'rith Girls and the food will be prepared by the Kneseth Israel Sisterhood catering committee.

Senator McCarthy

THE SUDDEN death of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, of Wisconsin, puts his name once more — and probably for the last time — in the headlines where it has been found so often in recent years.

Opinions differ widely as to whether Senator McCarthy was a wholly good or a wholly evil influence in the nation. Usually the judgment is one or the other but seldom in-between.

For our part, we could never work up much worry about what came to be called "McCarthyism". The Senator often abused the privilege of free speech — there is no question about that. And his tactics frequently left something to be desired from the standpoint of fair play.

But nobody with a clear conscience and a clear record on the issue of Communism ever really needed to fear Senator McCarthy. So far as we could see, for example, he made no adverse impression whatever on the reputation of General Zwicker. Those who suffered most from "McCarthyism" were apt to be those who could not look an American Senator in the eye and answer his questions straightforwardly.

As to whether Senator McCarthy really accomplished anything constructive, our view would have to be — not much. At one point, perhaps, he helped somewhat to dramatize the Communist penetration of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. But even this was done mostly on the basis of information developed by others.

On balance, our guess would be that Senator McCarthy will go into the history books as one of those off-beat personalities who step onto the American political stage every once in a while, create a brief flurry of interest in connection with some topical concern and then fade away leaving no lasting mark upon our statecraft.

Wrong Picture

AN ARTICLE on the subject of smog in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post gives the impression that the famous Donora tragedy of 1948 was nothing more than a particularly virulent example of a kind of chronic air pollution which is common to industrial areas. But this cannot be an accurate characterization of that episode.

The accepted scientific explanation of the Donora smog is that a prolonged "temperature inversion" trapped certain pollutants in the atmosphere and concentrated them to the point where they could kill people. The pollutants have never been positively identified although sulfur dioxide is one suspect.

However, it is wrong for anybody to think that this tragedy just happened to strike Donora when it could as well have struck any other community. For whatever pollutants killed those 20 people in Donora, they were peculiar to Donora.

Monessen is an industrial city, too, and it had exactly the same "temperature inversion" that Donora had and for the same length of time. But nobody died of smog in Monessen, nor was anyone made ill so far as is known.

The popular suspicion in the Valley is that the Zinc Works at Donora was the principal villain. And this idea acquired considerable substance when U. S. Steel Corp., owner of the works, settled a large number of damage suits against it for $250,000 rather than let them go to a jury.

We do not presume to have the answer to what happened in Donora. But it goes against common sense to describe that tragedy as just another example of chronic industrial air pollution.

Beck's Troubles

IT HAS BEEN apparent, ever since his appearance before the McClellan committee, that much of the evidence against Dave Beck was of such a nature that it would lead him to the criminal courts.

The president of the Teamsters Union has now been indicted on two counts of income tax evasion. This makes it virtually inevitable that his complicated personal finances will be aired in a court of law where Mr. Beck will have the benefit of a presumption of innocence and the burden of proof will be on the government. This is as it should be.

Senator McClellan has subpoenaed Mr. Beck to appear before his committee again next week to answer further questions about his alleged use of Teamster Union funds for his own benefit. But it would appear that the committee may have some difficulty questioning the union leader along these lines without involving matters connected with the criminal charges against him.

At any rate, Mr. Beck's troubles seem destined to be a subject of public interest for some time to come. They have already furnished some valuable object lessons in how labor unions should not be managed.

Ex-Senator Jim Duff has withdrawn as Dave Beck's attorney. But Dave still has the Constitution to fall back on.

Merry-Go-Round—

Claims Ike Won't Fight For Friends

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The most important fact on Capitol Hill, as members of Congress compared notes following the Easter recess, is that "modern Republicanism" has become a dirty word.

No one is standing up to fight for it, except possibly the Democrats.

Mr. Pearson

It was on the night of Nov. 6 that President Eisenhower, re-elected by one of the most overwhelming sweeps in modern times, told the nation and his own party that his great ambition during the next four years was to remake the Republican party in his own image.

That was exactly six months ago. Today the chief planks in the President's platform of modern Republicanism — aid to education, foreign aid, minimum wages, social security, etc. — are almost entirely deserted by the Republicans. Most of the planks are included in the battle over the budget, and this battle is the most significant taking place anywhere in the nation.

The average Republican will tell you that the chief reason for their desertion of their own President is that he can't run again, therefore has lost his political bargaining power. That, however, is only a small part of the story. Other Presidents who did not run again did not let their power go down the drain in six short months.

The answer, therefore, is deeper, more significant. It boils down to three things. Republican leaders know:

1. Ike will not fight for his friends.

2. He will not discipline his enemies.

3. He will frequently change his mind on issues, leaving those who supported him out on a limb.

Alex Wiley's Lesson

The latter is illustrated in the battle over the budget right now. Many a Republican senator agrees in his heart with the President regarding the importance of the budget. But he's afraid that if he makes a fight for the budget, the President will suddenly change his mind, leaving the senator out in front, waving for his cohorts to follow while the cohorts of "modern Republicanism" retreat with Ike in the opposite direction.

Ike's recent retreat on the budget to the tune of $1,700,000,000 was one straw in the wind. It made every senator who was about to defend the budget stop, look, and wonder whether Ike was going to retreat again.

Some of them also point to the sad experience of Sen. Alex Wiley of Wisconsin. No Republican on Capitol Hill fought harder for Eisenhower policies than Wiley. He fought McCarthy. He also fought against isolation in a state where isolation is sometimes popular.

And when Wisconsin isolationists ganged up to defeat him last year, everyone expected that Eisenhower would come to Wiley's defense. Wiley asked for support, begged for one little word from Eisenhower. He got none. The McCarthy - Isolationists refused to nominate him, forced him into a convention. Finally he won.

But he won entirely on his own. So today Alex Wiley owes no debt to the President. He won despite the President, and he isn't sticking his neck out for the President any more.

Kissing Your Enemies

Other senators know this. They have watched other cases where the President failed to go to bat for his friends — the most notable being that of Gen. George Marshall, the Chief of Staff who promoted Ike from lieutenant colonel to lieutenant general and made him commander-in-chief in Europe.

Though Marshall was branded a traitor by Sen. William Jenner of Indiana, Ike allowed himself to be photographed in friendly pose with Jenner. Later, when Ike advisers inserted two paragraphs in Ike's Milwaukee speech praising General Marshall, Ike was persuaded by friends of Joe McCarthy to eliminate the two paragraphs.

In brief, Ike kissed his friends' enemies.

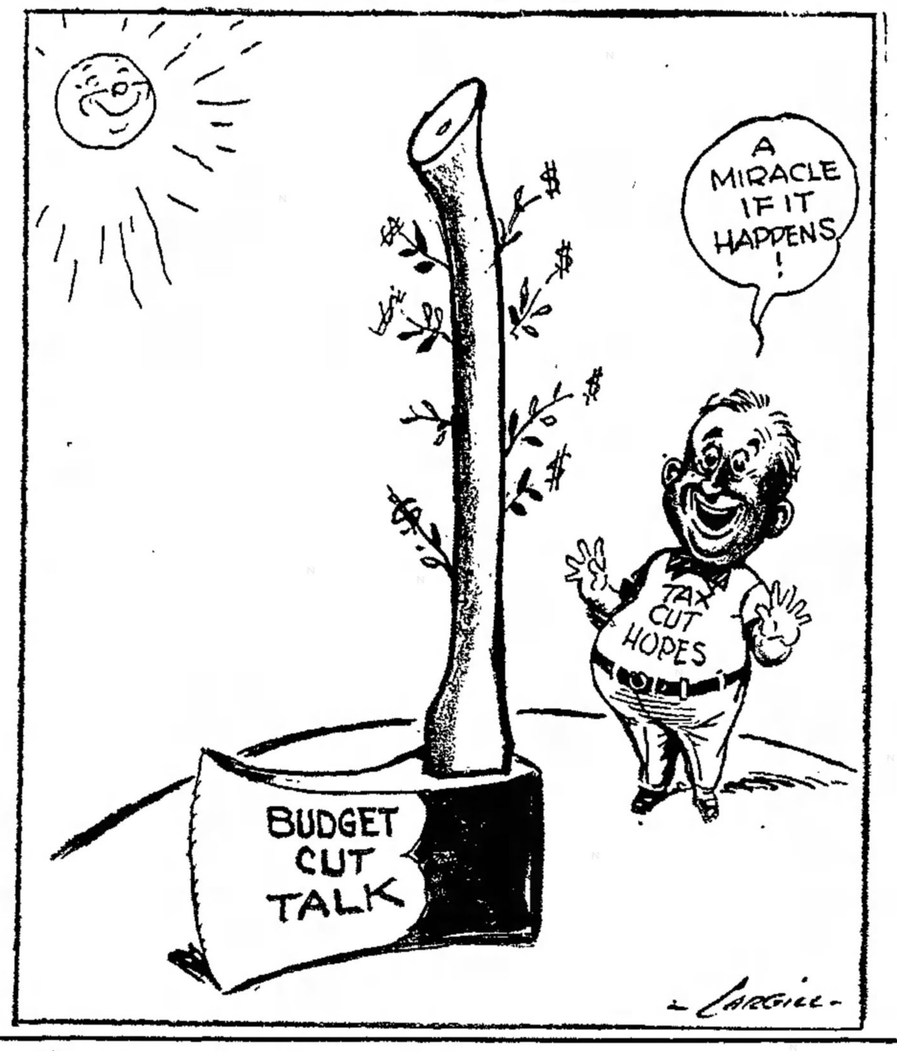
This set a pattern early in the Eisenhower administration. Republican politicians made note of it then, pay special attention to it now. They have watched Sen. Bill Knowland of California get away with frank, blunt, sometimes bitter opposition to the President and suffer not at all. He even gets kissed for his opposition. They figure they can do the same. And they have.

Of late they have even seen this occur in the cabinet.

It is unheard of for a cabinet member to oppose the President publicly. He can do it privately, within the bosom of the presidential family. But he doesn't oppose in public speeches, unless he resigns.

Yet Republican congressmen have watched three cabinet members step quietly and vigorously against the President, and get away with it.

Miracle of Spring



From Washington—

Moscow's 'Open Sky' Plan

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The United States is not going to give a quick, unqualified "no" to the Soviet proposal for a limited application of President Eisenhower's "open sky" arms inspection.

Mr. Drummond

But the Soviet offer, made at the U. S. disarmament talks in London earlier this week, is absolutely unacceptable in its present form.

American officials now feel pretty sure that the Soviets are, however, in a negotiating mood and that this opening gesture toward accepting a proposal which Mr. Eisenhower made at the "summit" conference two years ago, may be only a first installment.

The United States position can be put this way:

If the Soviet proposal is negotiable, if it is open to give-and-take change, we are eager to negotiate and believe that a mutually acceptable experiment with the "open sky" inspection plan can be worked out.

If the Soviet proposal is a take-it-or-leave-it package, just as it is, we are going to leave it.

Really 'No Loaf'

In its present form the Soviet version of the President's plan looks like an inviting half loaf which, after you unwrap it, proves to be all wrapping and no loaf.

Let's get the facts on the table so that we can see what's here and what isn't.

The central, essential purpose of any mutual inspection of military facilities is to minimize the danger of surprise attack, to make surprise attack more difficult for either side.

At Geneva in 1955 President Eisenhower told the Soviets:

That we would be willing to accept the Soviet plan to station inspectors at the points of principal military concentration in each other's country.

That in return we would expect the Soviets to accept the American proposal for air reconnaissance is unworkable, undesirable and he's against it.

Change Stand

Now, suddenly, in the course of the London disarmament negotiations Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin is authorized to say that air reconnaissance inspection is workable, desirable and that the Soviet government is for it.

What needs to be examined with a clear eye, a clear head and a magnifying glass as powerful as the Mt. Wilson observatory's, is whether the Soviets are proposing the real thing or a booby-trap.

Mr. Zorin proposes a truncated version of the Eisenhower plan.

He proposes U. S. air reconnaissance over Siberia and two Soviet-held islands in the Pacific near the Aleutians and Soviet air reconnaissance over Alaska and the United States west of the Mississippi.

He omits the earlier Soviet plan for ground inspectors at key staging points in each country.

Unequal Areas

You will note that Mr. Zorin suggests that the Soviets have access to more than half of the U. S., where most of our most important installations are located and that we have access to about one-third of the Soviet Union where its least important installations are located.

It seems to me that the only open-sky reconnaissance that would mean any protection against surprise attack is an air reconnaissance of all of each other's territory. To inspect half or a third of each is to have only the appearance of protection against surprise attack. Such a state of affairs would be worse than no inspection at all.

You can't blame the Soviets for trying to get more than they are giving. But we don't have to be taken in.

If this may be only an opening gambit, another move is indicated.

Role of Negro In Politics in Florida Studied

By UNITED PRESS

Negro voters in Florida now comprise 10 per cent of the electorate and are playing an "important part" in presidential and gubernatorial elections; they are an accepted factor in local politics in more and more counties; and "in Florida, as in most of the South, the Negro voter is here to stay."

This is the finding of Hugh D. Price, native of Florida now in Washington on an American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship, in "The Negro and Southern Politics" (New York University Press).

Price, who lists Florida as "Southern" but not necessarily "typical" Southern, found that despite white resistance in some remaining "deep South" counties Negro registration in the state grew from about 20,000 in 1944 to 137,535 in 1956 — 37.5 per cent of the adult Negro population.

National Affairs—

McCarthy Was Through As a Political Force

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — More than two years before he lost his fight for life, Joe McCarthy lost his fight for survival as a dominant figure in national politics.

He might have staged a comeback if he had won reelection next year and if the GOP had regained control of the Senate and restored him to a position of power.

Mr. Lahr

But his political power was drastically curtailed by the Senate vote of condemnation against him in November, 1954. Since then, it had been shrinking steadily to a hard core of McCarthy supporters. Otherwise, his influence had to be wielded largely through the men who stood by him in the Senate.

Not Always That Way

Things were different when he was riding the crest of his power from 1950 to 1954. Then many Republican candidates eagerly solicited his support. And more than a few Democrats hoped he would not invade their states to campaign against them.

McCarthy helped destroy some prominent Democrats and left others with permanent scars. In 1950, the McCarthy influence was a factor in the defeat of men like Scott W. Lucas, Senate Democratic floor leader; Francis J. Myers, Senate Democratic whip, and Sens. Millard E. Tydings and Elbert D. Thomas, the chairmen of major Senate committees.

He also helped to damage the Truman administration, politically, and thereby contributed to the election of President Eisenhower in 1952. Some Republican senators-elect also believed they benefited from McCarthy campaigning in 1952.

Then he challenged the Eisenhower administration and almost destroyed himself. He was virtually benched during the campaigns of 1954 and 1956.

Had Ike Nod In '52

McCarthy himself was a candidate for reelection in 1952 and was given the Eisenhower blessing, even if it was a cool one. There was never any warmth between the two men, largely because of McCarthy's bare-knuckle attack in a Senate speech against Gen. George E. Marshall, who was Eisenhower's patron in the Army.

More recently, the President has snubbed McCarthy with public gestures which indicated contempt for the Wisconsin senator. And McCarthy was one of a handful of GOP senators on whom the administration could never rely for support.

One of the unanswered questions in national politics was what Eisenhower's attitude would be toward a McCarthy reelection campaign in 1958. The President has rarely intervened in Republican primaries. Would he have maintained silence next year or would he have encouraged a challenge against McCarthy in the Wisconsin Republican primary?

Now the question can remain unanswered.

In The Open—

Some Rough Hiking Country Is Explored

By JOHN H. DAY

My back has been complaining ever since. It's a veteran back, which has been through the normal routine of gardening and lawn care and household chores, plus many gruelling miles of negotiating out-of-the way traverses through and across all sorts of wild country. It manages to hold up pretty well. But on occasion it can cry out in painful protest when I forget that I am no longer the eager, tireless youth of some years ago and push it to unreasonable limits!

My love for the exciting everyday adventures along the enchanted byways of the hill country lures me into all sorts of ill-advised scrambles along cliff facings and rock ledges. From the most recent of these excursions my back is still pointing up the grievous moral. In a few days all will be well again and I'll probably try to climb to a hawk's nest or crawl through a limestone cavern, pleasant chores which would better be left to younger and more agile outdoorsmen.

A good friend recently added considerable rough-land acreage to his present holdings and invited me to a personally conducted tour across this area. Scars left by the drag-line buckets of the strip miners are evident everywhere, but there are occasional patches of unspoiled woodland, and a wide creek circling far below high escarpments offering some gorgeous outlooks.

Rough Jeep Ride

We started out in a hard cushioned jeep which had been fitted up with hard springs for certain work-horse tasks. Every time that jeep hit a small depression in the road my back mentioned the fact. The more depressions, the more mentions. I tried sitting on "tiptoe", as it were, but that didn't help a bit. I only came down harder each time that jeep bucked me into the air.

Finally we parked the jeep, threw wide a gate, and walked into an abandoned area of spoil banks and weathered buildings. It was sort of like exploring one of the ghost towns in the western mining country. Pitch pine plantings have taken hold in the shale and may eventually soften the hard scenic shock of bare and worthless ground. This transformation will hardly come in a normal lifetime.

We had passed one sizeable pond where a whole regiment of toads trilled and gamboled and responded to the age-old call of the springtime. Here in shallow edgings were more of these bulgy-eyed creatures, depositing the long twisted ropes containing thousands of black eggs. The sleepy, lazy toad of the dusty August garden row is a much different creature when he's in the ponds in April, and in love.

Leaving this mined-out acreage we walked out to a pleasant upland field which has already been partially cleared as a possible church camp site. Here were the typical wooded areas for a rural chapel and the camp fire circle. In the trees edging the camp fire circle a crow's nest revealed the black tail of the sitting bird extending over the edge.

Hard Climbing

Then we followed the proposed scenic "trail" along the face of the sandstone cliffs fronting the circling stream. Here was a jumble of great rock chunks thrown down by the slow grinding of the centuries. My boots grew heavier by the minute and my back nearly mutinied as I followed my guide up and across and down and under tricky passages that only a mountain goat could learn to love.

Weird indeed were the odd patterns etched by wind and water and frost in the soft facings of the sandstone cliffs. Phoebes have also found these overhangs and a water thrush sang his echoing melody from the ravines below. At one wide overhang, where the red man enjoyed dry lodging, my friend has started a "dig" in the debris accumulated through the centuries. Already he had found flints, and charred bones, and enough evidence of Indian occupation to warrant organizing a well-planned excavation in the search for further artifacts of the earlier cultures which occupied this fascinating hill country hideaway.

WASHINGTON — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover charging that peddlers of obscene literature are contributing to the rising rate of sex crimes:

"It would be naive to assume that there's no relation between the mounting deluge of such filth and the increase in sex crimes."

CROWN POINT, Ind. — George Robert Brown, confessed sex murderer of two women, in denying that he killed two Chicago sisters in a similar crime:

"I've already confessed to two Indiana murders and I know I'm going to burn for them. Why wouldn't I confess to more?"

Mrs. Ronald P. Cipriani

Rogene Traversari, Ronald Cipriani Exchange Vows

Rogene Traversari, of Monongahela and Ronald P. Cipriani, of Monessen, exchanged nuptial vows on Tuesday morning, April 30, in the Church of Transfiguration of Monongahela at 10:30 o'clock with the Rev. Edward J. Treziacowski, assistant church pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Traversari, of Indiana Ave., Monongahela and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cipriani, of Oneida St., Monessen.

Double ring vows were exchanged before an altar banked with ferns and white gladiolus. Martha Bantz, organist, played a prelude of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Richard Brady.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a white gown of Steklis Cupiani and silk accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace studded with sequins. Seed pearls trimmed the yoke and the long basque bodice was fashioned with a sabrina neckline and short shirred sleeves. Embroidered lace appliques trimmed the hip yoke and the full skirt formed a chapel train. She wore matching mitts, a fingertip veil and a pillbox headdress of scalloped lace and silk. She carried a monogrammed Prayer Book, a gift from a great aunt in Italy, which was topped with white orchids and shower streamers knotted with stephanotis.

Bridal Party

Mrs. Steve Sistik, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Vidil, cousin of the bride, Emma Mae Affinito, of Pittsburgh and Dolores Vinoverski, of Finleyville. They wore gowns of lilac chiffon over taffeta and net. They were styled ballerina length with a sabrina neckline forming a V in the back and tying into a bow to form two panels. Appliques of lilacs and ivy marked the gown from the shoulder to the hemline. They wore matching Dior bows in their hair and carried cascade bouquets. The bridesmaids flowers were orchid and lavender carnations and the honor attendant carried orchid and white carnations.

Rogera Lee, sister of the bride, was the junior attendant and wore white nylon with an accordion pleated skirt and lilac cummerbund. She carried orchid and white carnations and wore a wreath of lilac flowers in her hair. Dan Piccolo, Jr., was ring bearer and carried the rings atop a heart shaped cushion made by the mother of the bride.

Eugene Cipriani, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Steve Sistik, Les DeVitto and Patsy Lasco.

Grandmothers Present

Mrs. Traversari wore a pink dress of lace over satin with a mauve and pink hat for her daughter's wedding and the bridegroom's mother wore navy. They wore pink carnation corsages. Maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Louis Sepe, wore mint green with black and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ottavio Traversari, wore navy. Their corsages were of pink carnations.

A dinner for the families followed the ceremony at Twin Coaches and covers were laid for 60 guests. Spring flowers and tapers decorated the tables. There were 500 guests entertained later at a reception at the Italian Hall, in Monongahela. A three tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. Aides were Mrs. Louis Valiani, Mrs. Howard V. Davis, Mrs. Rudy Drigel, Mrs. Peter Bidzila and Mrs. Robert Stange.

When the couple left for a two week trip to Jacksonville and Miami Beach, Fla., the bride was wearing a two piece dress of gray dacron with a white hat and other gray accessories.

The bride was graduated from Monongahela High School in 1952 and is employed by her father. Her husband was graduated from Monessen High School, served in the armed forces and is employed by the Retail Credit Association of Charleroi. After June 1, the couple will be a thome at 116 Church St., Monongahela.

V. F. W. Ladies Auxiliary Plans Many Activities

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Allison Lescanac Post 1190, met Wednesday evening with the new president Mrs. Nellie Kuseck, in charge. Mrs. Rose Sappo, chaplain, conducted the opening pledge and prayer.

ON THE BALL

By ALLEN KLINE

Kentucky on Television Today

Today's running of the Kentucky Derby will be telecast over KDKA-TV beginning at 5:15 p. m. . . . Brownsville Burgess Paul Thomas was the official starter at yesterday's Big Six Track Meet. Thomas was one of the tri-state's leading trackers in the late 20's and early 30's . . . Centerville High's golf team is well on its way toward copping the Section 5 title . . . Don LeJohn, former California High baseballer, is now playing with Macon, Ga., in the Class A Sally League. Macon is a farm club of the Brooklyn Dodgers . . . The annual Monessen High all-sports banquet is scheduled for next Thursday at the high school cafeteria.

We liked Dale Long's comment following his trade from the Pirates to the Cubs. Said Long: "What did the fans expect, miracles? Opening day they booed me. Every time I struck out they booed me. They got me believing I was in against lefthanders and the other two were agianst lefthanders and the other two were against Sal Maglie and Sam Jones. When I started against the Cardinals Tuesday night, it was like playing my first game. I was nervous. Who wouldn't be with boos ringing in your ears. Regret leaving Pittsburgh. Certainly not. But I'm sorry to leave Bobby Bragan. He's got a good outfit. They'll be going someplace."

Young Reportedly Signs With Vans

Reportedly Mike Young, the much-sought Monessen outfielder, has signed with Van Voorhis in the Mon Valley League. That mean's he'll be competing against his long-time pals, Bill Mitnick and Bob Mastracci, co-captains of the Ozarks . . . The annual Waynesburg horse show will be held this year on May 31 and June 1 . . . The University of West Virginia will pay $5,000 to a Butler, Pa., nursery to reseed the turf at Mountaineer Field. About 80,000 square feet of lawn will be redone. In the past, the gridiron turf has had its "ups and downs." However the current project is expected to provide a nice stand of grass once the football opener rolls around on Sept 21 against Virginia.

At this week's Charleroi - Donora baseball game in Section 17, the following things happened: 1. Every Donoran in the starting lineup made at least one error. 2. The game was held up when three dogs started to fight in the outfield. 3. The Charleroi scorekeeper (sports editor John Bunardzya) was struck in the face by a foul ball. 4. Charleroi's Joe Uhlman smashed a home run, but forgot to touch third base. He barely made it back to the bag after teammates informed him of the miscue. 4. Donora batted out of turn in the final inning. 6. Umpire Al Crompton enforced the 20 second rule to speed up the game which took two hours and 40 minutes to complete anyway. Charleroi won 16-7.

Charleroi Looks Good in Valley Race

After peeking at team rosters, Charleroi looks like the club to beat in the 1957 Mon Valley League race, which will open tomorrow. However all other entries appear stronger this season with the possible exception of defending champion Perryopolis . . . The University of Miami held a get-together the other day at a Pittsburgh hotel for dads of district schoolboys the Hurricanes would like to lure south. Sixteen of the 19 area gridders invited showed up for the affair along with dads. Included were Monessen's Bob Burns and Charleroi's Myron Pottios . . . Members of the Monessen Ozarks are still raving about the nice playing field at Yukon. The site has no accommodations for fans, but the diamond is well kept, and the outfield fences are marked.

Cincy Manager Has Amusing Experience

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

You can't blame Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, if he feels that being a successful manager is strictly a matter of this and that.

Getting ready to start right-handed hitting Art Schult against a rival left-handed pitcher, Birdie stood behind the batting cage giving Art directions:

So, in his first time at bat when the game started Schult slapped a hit to right — which scored the first Cincinnati run.

In Nephew's Footsteps

If Iron Liege wins today's Kentucky Derby he'll only be doing something that his nephew did two years ago. Swaps, which beat Nashua in 1955, is a son of Iron Reward. Both Iron Reward and Iron Liege are progeny of the mare Iron Maiden.

It's kind of difficult to say that horse racing reminds you of golf, but that's the case here. It's an old-time adage that it takes "horses for courses" and, such being the case, Ben Hogan will be tough to beat when the U.S. Open is held at Toledo's Inverness Course June 13-15. Bantam Ben competed in five tournaments at Inverness—and won four of them.

For the perfect squelch, hand to Lop Lloyd Mangrum's reply when a character said:

"Lloyd, I have a 36 handicap. What shall I do?"

Anything To Help

"Mister," Mangrum said, "try changing your shoes. With a handicap like that, almost anything should help."

Everything's sugar and spice in boxing since Ray Robinson's win over Gene Fullmer. As example, Monday night's TV fight pits "Sugar" Hart against "Sugar" Wilson—and somebody seems destined to get "lumps."

O'Neil (Buck) White, the Mississipp. golf ball mauler, tells about the time in the Mississippi delta country he asked a new caddy, "Who's away?"

"Nobody's away, Mr. White," the caddy observed with a cautious look all around. "Y'alls all here!"

Production Wins Office Crown

Production swept over Order last night to win the PittsburghhSteel Office Bowling League title.

Harry Myers led the champions with a 182-491. For Order, Frank Destefano turned in a 172-423.

The champs will be honored on May 21 at the annual league banquet in Johnson's Restaurant.

Booking Agent John (Dibby) Dibiago, of the City Softball Umpires Assn., today released next week's opening schedule in the Allenport League.

Bucs Lose Again In Overtime to Braves, 8 to 7

PITTSBURGH (UP)—One of these days the Pittsburgh Pirates are going to win an overtime game.

Friday night, for the third time in a night game this week, the Pirates came from behind in the bottom of the ninth to send the game into overtime. But as on the other occasions, they eventually lost.

Bobby Thomson of Milwaukee came through with a bases-loaded single in the 11th inning of Friday night's contest to give the Braves an 8-7 victory and preserve their record of never losing to a righthanded pitcher this season. The Braves made Elroy Face their 12th righthanded victim.

Face, who relieved in the 10th, became a losing pitcher for the third time this week.

Today, the Pirates try to prevent a Milwaukee sweep of the three-game series with Vernon Law (0-0) taking the mound against Bob Buhl (1-1) in an afternoon game. Sunday, the Bucs meet Cincinnati for the first time this season in an afternoon doubleheader.

Friend Starts

Bob Friend started for the Pirates Friday night and was battered for a run in the third and six runs in the sixth, capped by Hank Aaron's three-run homer.

The Pirates scored a run in the second, added three more in the seventh and sent the game into overtime with three runs in the ninth on three walks and pinch singles by Jim Pendleton and Bob Skinner.

With one out in the 11th, Aaron tripled to right center. Two walks by Face loaded the bases. Face then gave way to Bob Purkey who was greeted by Thomson with a solid hit to left that scored Aaron with the winning run.

The Pirates' other overtime night game losses this week were to the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5, in 13 innings on Tuesday and the Braves, 8-5 in 10 innings on Thursday.

Work Starts Today on Midget League Stand

Work started today on the Midget League concession stand at Memorial Stadium.

The site has already been surveyed by city engineer John Kotch, III. Today city graders were at work, levelling off the area.

Frank Tallerico, a city contractor, is in charge of the project. He hopes to erect forms today, so that concrete for the floor may be poured next week.

All workers are donating their services.

Meanwhile chairman of the project Alex Kachmarik, reported that the campaign for funds to purchase building materials is proceeding in high gear.

Kachmarik estimated that the 90 foot stand will cost about $2,000 to erect.

In the future, the stand will be operated by parents of Midget League players. It is hoped that the revenue from the concession stands will be enough to finance the league without further solicitation.

Valley Tennis Resumes Monday

Section 4 tennis activity will resume on Monday when Monessen plays host to Monongahela and California welcomes Charleroi.

Monessen is currently atop the standings with a perfect 3-0 record. California is right behind with a 2-1 slate.

Both Monessen and California are solid favorites to win on Monday.

Valley League Will Begin Tomorrow

The Mon Valley Baseball League will open its 1957 season tomorrow when Fayette City appears at Van Voorhis.

On Monday, the Monessen Ozarks will go to Donora and West Newton will appear at Perryopolis.

The following day, the final two league entries will swing into action as Charleroi plays host to New Eagle.

Commissioner George Kuvinka predicted a great season for his eight team league.

"There doesn't appear to be a weak team in the league this season," said Kuvinka. "We should have an interesting race from start to finish.

Defending Champ

Perryopolis is the defending champion. However the Perry nine anticipates lots of competition. Observers rate Charleroi and Van Voorhis as definite pennant possibilities.

As a matter of fact, none of the MVL entries can be counted out at the moment.

League officials are busy completing the 1957 schedule which will be released soon. The first week of the card has already been announced.

The league will operate under its usual rules with only one noteworthy exception. This season players must wear protective helmets while at bat.

Full Cards

Next Wednesday and Friday, full cards are scheduled. The Wednesday activity will send Van Voorhis to Monessen, Donora to Fayette City, New Eagle to Perryopolis and Charleroi to West Newton.

On Friday, Van Voorhis will appear at Donora, Fayette City at New Eagle, Monessen at West Newton and Perryopolis at Charleroi.

Chisox, Braves off To Finest Starts

By MILTON RICHMAN

The Chicago White Sox and Milwaukee Braves are off to their best starts in history and while neither has begun printing World Series tickets yet, both appear to be settling down to a long, cozy stay in first place.

The White Sox reeled off their 11th victory in 13 games and their fifth in a row by licking Washington, 11-6 Friday. Best previous start by a White Sox club was 10 out of 13 way back in 1920.

And the Braves made it 12 victories in 14 starts with an 11-inning 8-7 decision over the Pirates Friday night. Up to now, the best season's start by any Milwaukee club was nine out of 12 last year.

Brooklyn remained two games behind the pace - setting Braves by beating St. Louis, 6-0, at Jersey City Friday night, while Cincinnati defeated the Giants, 11-10, and the Phillies handed the Cubs their eighth straight defeat, 9-6.

Yanks Beat A's

The Yankees stayed within 2½ games of the first - place White Sox with an 8-5 decision over the Athletics in the American League, while Detroit blanked Boston, 6-0. Inclement weather caused postponement of the Baltimore-Cleveland game.

Outfielder Larry Doby and sinker-ball pitcher Gerry Staley were the key cogs in the White Sox triumph over the Senators. Doby drove in four runs with a double, single and infield out while Staley held Washington to two runs after coming to starter Bob Keegan's rescue in the second inning.

Bobby Thomson's single with the bases loaded in the 11th provided the Braves with their victory over the Pirates. Hank Aaron, whose three-run homer highlighted a six-run outburst in the sixth, started the Braves on the road to victory with a triple in the 11th. Red Murff was the winner although Warren Spahn was rushed in when Pittsburgh threatened in the last of the 11th.

Big Don Newcombe scattered five hits in beating the Cardinals for the ninth straight time.

A three-run homer by pinch-hitter Pete Whisenant in the ninth carried the Redlegs to their triumph over the Giants, who had gone ahead 10-8 on Hank Sauer's three-run homer in the sixth. Gus Bell and Red Schoendienst also hit homers.

Trailing by five runs, the Cubs rallied to tie their game with the Phils at 6-6, but relief pitchers Vito Valentinetti and Dick Littlefield each forced in runs with bases-loaded walks in the seventh to give Philadelphia the victory. The Cubs hurt their cause with five errors, four of them by rookie second baseman Casey Wise.

The Yankees took advantage of three unearned runs in the seventh to beat the Athletics. Don Larsen racked up his second victory in relief of starter Bob Turley, who was knocked out in the sixth.

Paul Foytack tossed a four-hit shutout at the Red Sox for his first victory. Tiger teammate Frank House homered.

Hoak Takes NL Batting Lead

NEW YORK (UP) — Don Hoak of the Cincinnati Redlegs, with all his old hustle and a league-leading .396 batting average to boot, is thankful he heeded manager Birdie Tebbetts' advice to "stop trying to hit like a big man."

Tebbetts convinced Hoak in spring training that he should cut down on his swing and shoot for singles and doubles instead of making those futile lunges for home runs which seldom came. Hoak took Birdie's advice and switched to a new batting stance which he credits for his excellent season's start.

Figures bear out Hoak's success with his new stance. His 19 hit include two home runs and five doubles, he has driven in 13 runs, he's walked 13 times and struck out only five times.

Six More Matches In Marble Tourney

Six more matches were staged yesterday in Monessen's ninth annual marble tournament.

Here are the results:

Junior High — Philip Reed over Lonnie McWilliams.

Holy Name — Joseph Korestes over Richard Yatchyshyn.

St. Leonard — Robert Hudson over Gerald Sasik; John Dinio over Joseph Rodgers; Dinio over Hudson.

The tourney will resume Monday at Memorial Civic Center.

Charleroi Nears Section 17 Title

Charleroi High's defending champions may wrap things up in the Section 17 baseball race next week.

The Cougars must win two of their four remaining games to assure at least a tie. So far, they've won six in a row.

The only team with hope of overtaking the Charlerolans is Monongahela. The Cats have a 5-2 record.

On Monday Charleroi will play host to Bellmar while Monongahela will welcome California. Both the Cougars and Cats are favored to win.

In another Monday assignment, Monessen will appear at Donora in a battle to avoid the cellar.

Section standings follow:

Standings

TEAM	W	L	Pct.
Charleroi	6	0	1.000
Monongahela	5	2	.714
Bellmar	4	3	.571
California	2	3	.400

DONNELL WINS 880 IN BIG SIX MEET

Only Monessen Boy To Finish First in Show at Brownsville

Fleet Billy Donnell, Monessen High senior, set a new Big Six record yesterday as he took first place in the 880 yard run at Brownsville.

It was the only first place captured by the youthful Greyhound thinclads.

As expected, the host Brownies won the team title for the third straight year, racking up 91 points.

Far behind were Donora, 50; Monessen, 17½ and Monongahela 1.

Good Time

Donnell covered the 880 in the good time of 2.07:7. His was one of six meet records smashed during yesterday's event which was staged in splendid weather.

Here are the other record-breaking performances:

Angelo Dabiero, Donora, 100-yard dash, 10.4; Myron Pottios, Charleroi, discus, 147 feet, 8½ inches; Fred Wilkes, Brownsville, high jump, 6 feet, 2 inches; Charles Packan, Redstone, broad jump, 20 feet, 7½ inches; Ed Zuraw, Charleroi, pole vault, 11 feet.

Other MHS Scorers

Besides Donnell, the only other individuals to score points for Monessen were George Selelyo, who finished in a second place tie in the low hurdles and fifth in the high hurdles, and George Shuma, who was fourth in the 440.

The Greyhounds 880 relay team came in third, as did the MHS mile team.

Bold Ruler Is Favored in Derby Today

Ozarks Practice

Manager Pappy Johnson has called a practice session for his Monessen Ozarks tomorrow at 4 p. m. in Ninth Street Park.

Greaves, Neal Bout Called Off

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Wilf Greaves-Johnny Neal 10 - round welterweight bout scheduled for the Enright Theater Monday night has been cancelled.

Promoter Ben Anolik said Friday the bout was called off because of an eye injury suffered by Wilf in training. Anolik said a physician had advised Wilf to stay out of action for two or three weeks.

PONY, Little League Drills

Candidates for both the PONY and Little Leagues in Monessen were working out today.

The PONY League hopefuls reported at 9 a. m. to Ninth Street Park.

Little League candidates worked out at either Ninth Street or City Park this afternoon.

In charge of the practice session were loop managers.

To be eligible during the regular season, a youngster must take part in at least two practice drills.

Clear, Chilly Weather Expected for 83rd Running at Louisville

By RAY AYRES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) A bright, clear but chilly afternoon was forecast for the 83rd running of the $153,300 Kentucky Derby today with Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler favored in the field of 10 speedy colts.

More than 100,000 fans will jam into Churchill Downs for the first of the Triple Crown classics while millions watch the drama unfold on television or listen on radio.

Post time was 5:30 p.m. e.d.t., with 205 TV stations in this country and 16 in Canada as well as 210 radio stations carrying the show put on by CBS.

Bold Ruler, polished to perfection by Jim Fitzsimmons, was an 8-5 favorite to grab the winner's purse of $109,200 and give the 82-year-old trainer his fourth Kentucky Derby victory.

Gen. Duke Looks Set

Bold Ruler's arch rival, Calumet Farm's Gen. Duke, coupled in the race with stablemate Iron Liege, was second choice at 9-5 since he apparently has recovered from the bruised foot which made his status uncertain earlier in the week.

Trainer Jimmy Jones hoped to determine definitely early in the morning whether the horse would start after a close examination and a thorough testing of the injured foot.

Eddie Arcaro, the winningest Derby rider of them all with five victories, rides Bold Ruler in a rubber match with Gen. Duke. Thus far these crackerjack colts have split four meetings, Bold Ruler winning the Bahamas and Flamingo Stakes and Gen. Duke taking the Everglades Stakes and the Florida Derby.

In the Florida Derby, Gen Duke equalled the world record for 1⅛ miles but Bold Ruler came back with a smashing performance of his own, setting a track record in winning the Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Hartack On "The Duke"

Bill Hartack, riding champion for the past two years, rides Gen. Duke while Dave Erb, winner of the Derby a year ago with D.&H. Stable's Needles, is upon Iron Liege.

Grouped in a tight knot for third choice were Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, second by a nose to Bold Ruler in the Wood; Kerr Stable's Round Table, record breaking winner of the Blue Grass Stakes; and Clifford Lussky's Federal Hill, the locally-owned winner of the Derby Trial and a record-breaker in winning the Louisiana Derby.

Willie Shoemaker, who got a first Kentucky Derby victory when he beat Nashua with Swaps, rides Gallant Man while Ralph Neves is up on Round Table. Whistlin' Willie Carstens has Federal Hill.

Rounding out one of the flashiest fields ever assembled for the Kentucky Derby were John L. Appelbaum's Mister Jive with Hedley Woodhouse up; T. Alie Grissom's Shan Pac with J. Ralph Adams up; William S. Miller's Better Bee with Johnny Adams, Ralph's father, riding, and Ada L. Rice's Indian Creek, George Taniguchi up.

Machen Decisions Maxim; Wants Jackson Next

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Unbeaten Eddie Machen, fresh from his 21st straight victory, was heartened today by promoter Jim Norris' assurance he would try to match San Francisco Eddie and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson for a heavyweight challengers' battle at Madison Square Garden in July.

Machen, second - ranking contender, showed much improvement Friday night, Kentucky Derby eve, before only 3,600 fans in huge Freedom Hall as he whipped Joey Maxim much more impressively than in their first bout last January.

Again 24-year-old Machen of San Francisco won a unanimous 10-round decision over the ancient and flaby ex - light heavyweight champion; but this time in more lopsided fashion. Thirty-five-year-old Cleveland Joey, who now lives in Miami, appeared on the verge of a kayo at least three times. Machen weighed 190¾; Maxim, 189.

Norris hoped to arrange the Jackson-Machen fight, because champion Floyd Patterson is reluctant to defend his crown under Norris' promotion. Meanwhile, Jackson, the top contender, is reluctant to fight for another promoter, even for a shot at the title.

Pep Signs to Meet Castro

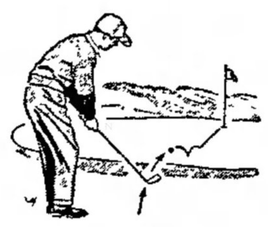
FLOENCE, S.C. (UP) — Former featherweight champion Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., has signed to meet Manny Castro of Mexico City in a 10-round bout at the Florence Memorial Stadium, May 10. The bout has been scheduled as a pre-race attraction for the Rebel 300-mile convertible auto race at the Darlington Speedway, May 11.

Ex Frisco Player Signs Canadian Pact

VANCOUVER (UP) — Ed Sharkey, 6-foot, 4-inch, 240-pound former National Football League player, has signed with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League. Sharkey was released by the San Francisco Forty-Niners after the 1956 season because of an injury.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Watch Chip Shots

Most bad chip shots can result from vague planning or indecisive stroking, or to a combination of both.

The thing to do is to lay out your chip-shot plan one step at a time. First, pick out a spot where you want the ball to hit. Then pick a club whose loft will cause the ball to roll from that spot to the hole. Picture the shot in your mind, with the ball being pitched to the chosen spot, rolling on to the hole.

Then take a slightly open stance, bring the club back smoothly, hit down and through the ball, keep the head firmly in place, and follow through low along the ground and straight toward the hole.

Actually, it is almost always vagueness of plan that causes indecisiveness of stroke. You stand over the ball not quite knowing just what it is that you mean to do and, the first thing you know, you have made a sloppy stroke and have looked up too soon to see the result. Thus are born those horrible poop shots that wind up a few pitiful feet in front of you — and those half-topped ones that go scudding all over the green.

BPS Paints Will Give New Beauty To Your Home, So Paint Up Now

You can add beauty and charm to your home, inside and out, with those famous BPS paints sold by the Monessen Plumbing & Electric Co., 535-537 Donner avenue, and you have three "ready-to-use" finishes in matching colors.

They are Flatlux, one coat wall paint; Satin-Lux, semi-gloss; and Glos-Lux, a high gloss enamel.

Flatlux one coat wall paint.

Flatlux makes painting a pleasure. Covers more surely in a single coat. . . flows out perfectly and dries quickly. It is made from low-odor solvents so that newly decorated rooms can be used the same day.

The high-style colors of Flatlux are lime-proof and fade-proof. . . and the low cost brings new economy to interior painting. So easy to apply with brush or paint roller. One coat covers most surfaces and one gallon does the average size room.

Flatlux washes like new with ordinary soap and water. . . and Flatlux lasts longer. . . . saves money.

Flatlux is color matched to Satin-Lux and Glos-Lux for single color room styling.

Satin-Lux Semi-Gloss. It is so easy to apply a coat of Satin-Lux to woodwork, walls, cupboards and furniture. The satin-smooth finish is free from glare and produces a rich-hand-rubbed effect so desirable on woodwork and furniture. Satin-Lux brushes on evenly . . . dries quickly to a smooth, hard, non-porous finish that is resistant to grease, steam and dirt . . . washing will not harm the beautiful semi-gloss finish.

Smart matching color effects can be made with the BPS Identically Matched colors of Flatlux Flat Wall and Glos-Lux High Gloss Enamel.

Glos-Lux High Gloss Enamel.

Glos-Lux is the ideal high-gloss finish for use on walls and ceilings, woodwork and cupboards. The ease of application is one of the outstanding features of Glos-Lux and makes it such a popular enamel to use. The bright glistening colors and white are particularly desirable for kitchens, bathrooms, nursery and children's rooms. The tile-like, waterproof finish withstands abuse and wear . . . dirt and grease wash off easily without harming the high-gloss finish.

Glos-Lux dries quickly without laps or brush marks and the colors are identically matched to Flat-Lux Flat Wall and Satin-Lux Semi-Gloss.

Forester's Has Many Items to Help in Spring

Every Spring when we all get work-conscious in improving the outside of our homes as well as the garden and lawn, there are many items we need from a store like Forester's Plumbing & Heating, 910 Knox avenue, a firm that has served Monessen and the Valley for many years.

For example, the garden, and if you have space for one by all means start it. Nothing nicer than fresh vegetables in your backyard. Beats going to the store and you save money, too, which everyone is trying to do in these inflated days of high prices.

Well, you'll need garden seeds and Forester's has them. You'll need a spade, a hoe and other garden supplies and here again this store will take care of your wants.

How about the lawn? Here again, garden tools come in handy and get lawn seed that will help make it a flourishing lawn you'll be proud of. A neat lawn adds much to the beauty of any home plus the added charm you get from it yourself.

And paint, inside and out, is another fine method of not only beautifying your home and other buildings but protecting them from the elements.

Forester's sells that famous White's prepared paint which is ideal for use in areas like this because it is acid-resistant and will not fade as fast. O'Brien's Satin Finish for walls and woodwork is another product in the paint department at Foresters that will add color and charm to your homes interior.

Of course there are many hardware items, plumbing and heating supplies, housewares, etc. to make living better in your home.

John Says:

What's the quickest way to get back on your feet? Just skip a car payment. On the other hand, to get quick performance from your car, treat it with Gulf products.

(Political Advertisement)

What Price Redevelopment?

On the basis of the cost of what is to be DONE in various sections of Monessen, and not taking into account a possible extra small portion being paid by the State in the East End Section, which the present administration is hoping and expecting to get, but is NOT guaranteed. A preliminary estimate has been made from reports that have been circulated of which the East End is the First Project of "MANY" sectional projects.

The Redevelopment cost will be very "HUGE" and colossal, because Mayor Hugo Parente wants to do "BIG" things, just like his: "IT'S OUTDOOR THEATRE OR NOTHING." He believes in tearing down property whether its necessary or not, just so long his friends can profiteer by getting higher prices for these properties than what the market value or the average person would pay. A few persons profited very highly when they sold their property to the Parking Authority. So it is the "REST" of "YOU" taxpayers thats going to FOOT the bill. NOTHING as "yet" has been mentioned about building additional sewers, streets, and other improvements in the new addition and widening of old streets that need attention. NOTHING is said "yet" of how much money we will need when a depression comes, to match federal grants for W. P. A. projects. NOTHING has been mentioned as "yet" about a bond issue that the Council may float to widen the rest of Schoonmaker Avenue. (That is perhaps the REAL reason it will be repaved after election.) Nothing as "yet" about other small items too numerous to mention. Just think how much it will cost, when you get the TOTAL bill including the Parking Plaza and the Sewage Disposal System? Could our total debt go to $5,000,000.00 or over? If the EAST END will cost $350,000.00, how much for the REST? Yes, how much for the WEST END? Morgan Avenue and Highland Avenue where the REAL Redevelopment should take place? Grant Street vicinity? Third Street? The Freight Station and downtown Donner and Schoonmaker Ave. SECTIONS??

If everything goes "HUGO'S" way, your CITY DEBT, will go into "MANY MILLIONS" and your property taxes are "DEFINITELY" going to be INCREASED to take care of the HIGHER INTEREST CHARGES and HIGHER yearly Sinking Fund PAYMENTS.

Girl Scouts to Hold Party for Mothers Tuesday

The members of Girl Scout Troop 43 made final plans to entertain their mothers next Tuesday in the Scout rooms of the Legion home.

The affair will begin at 6:30 and will conclude with refreshments at 6:45.

The meeting opened with the regular Scout presentation of colors. Jeanie McCurdy and Carolyn Barker were color bearers and Ruth Brandon with Gayle Arrow guards. Mrs. Thurman Bailey, troop leader, explained the program being arranged for the weekend camp by six Fayette City troops at Laurel Mountain State Park on June 7, 8, and 9.

Mrs. Clifford Carlson is camp chairman. Permission slips must be signed and returned to the leader. The girls will be accompanied to the camp near Somerset by the leaders, committee women and as many mothers as choose to go.

At a previous meeting the girls had planned to hold a skating party today but the affair was postponed

Auto Insurance in London Goes Up

LONDON (UP)—British motorists will pay up to one-third more for automobile insurance starting July 1, it was announced today.

The owner of a "small" car will pay about $157 a year for comprehensive insurance, including unlimited public liability, fire and theft and property damage. A "big" car owner will pay about $205. A careful driver who avoids an accident for five years can have his premium slashed by 30 per cent.

Court Catholic Daughters Plan To Hold Banquet

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court Miriam, of West Newton, will be held Tuesday evening in the Holy Family Church hall. Election of officers will be held.

May 9 is the day when the Court will hold a graduation banquet for high school graduates of Holy Family Church, and those graduates of other schools whose mothers are members of the C. D. of A.

The May committee, which will serve for both of the above affairs, consists of of the following: Mrs. Helen Megela, chairman; Mrs. Frances Ribich, co-chairman; Mrs. Stella Zebrasky, Mrs. Ann Kowalcheck, Mrs. Hazel Keegan, Mrs. Helen Chopp, Mrs. Delores Hough, Mrs. Jean Hlafscak, Mrs. Mary Janitor and Mrs. Elaine Janitor.

Woman's Club To Elect Here Monday Evening

"First Ladies I Have Met" is the theme Marion Leslie, Sun Telegraph society editor, will use when she addresses the West Newton Woman's Club on Monday evening at the Methodist Church.

Eleven new members will be received at a reception and tea.

The annual election of officers will be held. Each member is asked to bring a can of vegetables or fruit for the County Children's Home camping project.

The committee is headed by Mrs. Bertha Walter, chairman. Her aides include: Mrs. Margie Tarr, Mrs. Eleanor Weddell, Mrs. Norma Wiley, Mrs. Naomi Wilkie, Mrs. Helena Neasham, Mrs. Edith Henderson, Mrs. Mary E. Goehring, Mrs. Dorothy Hanes, Mrs. Daryl Brunella and Mrs. Jean Miller.

Missionary Groups Will Meet Here

The spring convention of the women's societies of Westmoreland Presbyterial will be held in the United Presbyterian Church of West Newton on Thursday.

The morning session, which will begin at 10 a. m., will be given over to worship and the business of the convention.

At the afternoon session, beginning at 1:30, reports and usual business will be followed by an address by Dr. Helen Martin, retired president of the American College for Girls in Cairo, Egypt.

Food Registration

Registration for federal surplus food will be held on Wednesday, at the Moose building from 10 to 11 a. m.

To Honor Mothers

The Berean Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church will hold its annual Mother's Day celebration at the regular meeting at the church on Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. Pauline Reynolds will have charge of devotions and hostesses are Mrs. Agnes Cumpson and Mrs. Claude Mitchell.

To Hold Banquet

The West Newton Ladies' Bowling League will hold its first banquet on Wednesday evening, at the Village Inn. Members are asked to be ready to leave West Newton promptly at 6:45.

Watch for Electrical Gadgets

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

With all of the electrical gadgets we find in American homes these days, I think most of you should be a bit more familiar with the dangers of electrical burns.

Now don't misunderstand me. Much of this household equipment is perfectly safe. But anything could happen. And the more you know about electrical shock and burns, the better it will be.

For example, the current in your home generally can be considered dangerous. Anything above 65 volts can cause harm, especially if the person coming in direct contact with it is well-grounded.

Electricity used in most homes is 110 volt, 60-cycle alternating current. Experts tell me that alternating current is about three times as dangerous as direct current and the greatest hazard is in the cycle range of 30 to 150.

Current which may kill one person may have little or no effect on other persons.

Most susceptible to shock are elderly persons, alcoholics, those with disturbed thyroid, those suffering from hardening of the arteries and those with chronically greasy skin.

Usual symptoms of shock include nervousness, headache, defective memory, insomnia, delirium and sometimes even a complete change in personality.

These symptoms don't always develop immediately after an electrical accident. Sometimes it may be several months before they occur.

Often the extent of electrical burns can't be determined for days or even weeks after an accident. Because of the high temperature of the electric burn, there is always danger that the shock will cause damage to the blood vessels.

Question and Answer

Mrs. L. P. A.: I have been ill for two years with a heart condition and have lost my desire for food. What can I take to restore my appetite?

Answer: Poor appetite comes from many causes. A thorough examination should be made to determine the cause of the trouble so that proper treatment may be employed.

Kukla, Fran, Ollie, TV Vets, Out in Fall

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim . . .

"Kukla, Fran and Ollie," one of TV's veterans, plays its last stanza on the ABC-TV network June 7. ABC-TV will offer a sports show next fall in place of the Kuklapolitans.

"Blondie" goes out the NBC-TV revolving door next fall. Betty Furness will trade her ice cubes for greasepaint on "Studio One" May 13 when she stars in "Babe in the Woods." Jody MCrea will also grace the cast—he's the son of Joel McCrea.

Everybody but the dog in the "Lassie" cast is getting the pink slip for next season. Harry Belafonte, who has caught fire this year, will do a 90-minute spec on CBS-TV or ABC-TV next semester.

Guy Mitchell will be spotted on "Person to Person" May 10, but he doesn't know it yet. He's enroute to the United States from Australia—Guy's wife, Else, gave the go-ahead to Ed Murrow.

"Tic Tac Dough" is branching out to British TV where it'll be re-titled "Naughts and Crosses". "You the Jury," emceed by Jim McKay, looks like a hot contender for a CBS-TV daytime slot.

Phil Silvers winds up the shooting of his Sgt. Bilko's series this week in Manhattan. As a present for the whole crew, Phil is throwing a beer-and-pretzels outing in Central Park next Tuesday.

"Valiant Lady" is shaky at CBS-TV. Ditto "Wire Service" at ABC-TV and "Circus Boy" at NBC-TV. "Sally", a situation comedy with Joan Caulfield, is shaping up as the Sunday replacement for "Circus Boy."

NBC Opera will present Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" and Poulenc's "Dialogues of the Carmelites" next season. Hank Bloomgarden of "Twenty One" is getting the woo treatment from Warner Bros.

Chet Huntley and Dave Brinkley will be switched to an earlier quarter hour segment on NBC-TV next season. Dennis James signed on for 13 more weeks of NBC-TV's "Club 60," but with a four-week "escape" clause—ABC-TV wants Dennis to stay available for a new afternoon series.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A WINDOW SAFETY GUARD

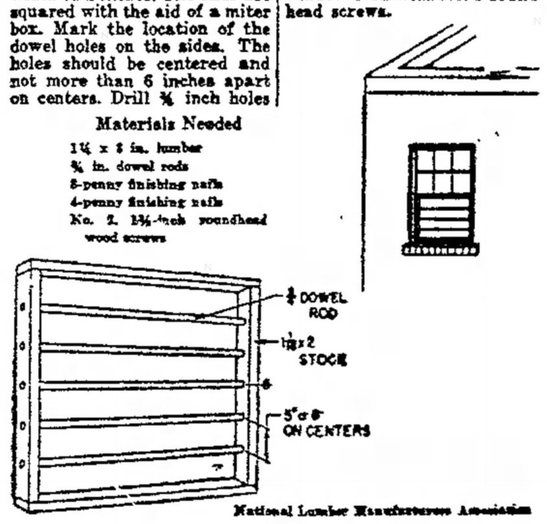
Safety bars which will reduce the possibility of accidents can be constructed by the home craftsman. The dimensions of the project will depend on the size of the window into which the guard is to fit.

The frame is made of 1¼ by 3-inch lumber ripped to a width of 2 inches. The ends are squared with the aid of a miter box. Mark the location of the dowel holes on the sides. The holes should be centered and not more than 6 inches apart on centers. Drill ¾ inch holes using a No. 12 auger bit.

Assemble the frame with 8-penny finishing nails. Insert dowel rods, ¾ inches in diameter, in the holes provided. The rods are fastened with 4-penny finishing nails.

Round the inside edges of the frame and sand it smooth.

Attach the frame to the window sash with No. 8 roundhead screws.



Make Safety Good Habit in the Home

As long as 14,000 people are killed each year by falls in their homes, "safe at home" isn't a true statement. A better one might be, "make safety a habit in your home."

More than half of these fatal falls happened on level areas; stairways or steps couldn't be blamed, reports Nelle Stasukinas, extension home economist in Westmoreland County.

What are the reasons? One is carelessness. Failure to take the time to wipe up spilled grease or liquids on the kitchen floor before someone slips and falls is one reason. Forgetting to put toys or other items out of the center of the floor or passageway is another. Allowing unanchored rugs or those with frayed edges to remain on the floor causes many falls. No handhold in the tub or shower results in falls in slippery tubs.

Another reason is willingness to take a chance. Climbing on a folding chair rather than a stepstool is a common risk people take. Piling things on the stair steps is an accident hazard, too. Using a stepladder that's not solid nor high enough to give the balance needed can cause a serious fall.

Still a third reason is ignorance. Children in particular don't naturally know safe methods of walking and climbing and the dangers of not picking up their toys.

To help prevent falls in the home, orderliness is one of the first requirements. Adequate convenient storage space helps form these habits. A mop or sponge easily reached helps keep the kitchen and bathroom floors dry and less slippery. Space for toys makes it easier to teach children to put them away. A convenient place to set a stepstool in the work area of the house encourages its use.

Fires Start in Kitchen Mainly

Where will fire start? Anywhere.

Where do home fires start? In the kitchen and living room mostly. These two rooms account for 53 per cent of the origins of fires in homes, it is reported by the National Fire Protection Association.

Bedrooms account for 12 per cent of fire origins, followed by basements, where 10 per cent of dwelling fires start. Concealed wall, ceiling and floor spaces are the sites of 5 per cent, attics follow with 4 per cent, halls and stairways with 3 per cent, and closets and porches are tied with 2½ per cent. Less than 2 per cent of the fires start in utility rooms, dining rooms, bathrooms and attached garages.

Don't gamble with fire — the percentages are always against you!

Know Your Terms When You Are Buying or Using Lumber

To buy lumber you don't have to be an expert, but it is handy to know some of the terms used to describe the pieces you buy.

There are big differences among boards, strips, dimension lumber and timbers. And some times a word means one thing for softwood and another for hardwood.

Since most of all lumber is softwood — about 75 per cent of it — it is handier to know its descriptive terms first. Some of these follow:

1. A BOARD is a piece 6 inches or more in width and less than 2 inches thick. Boards may be used for fencing, sheathing, subflooring roof decking.

2. A STRIP is less than 6 inches wide. These may be used for moldings, low baseboards and various other needs for narrow lumber.

3. DIMENSION lumber includes lumber from 2 inches thick up to, but not including, 5 inches thick It can be 2 or more inches wide. This includes 2-by-4s, framing members, joists, planks, rafters, studs.

4. TIMBERS are 5 or more inches in their narrowest dimension. Timbers include beams, stringers, posts, caps, sills and girders.

Then there are three general types of softwood lumber, classified according to its manufacture. These are:

1. ROUGH lumber, sold as it comes from the saw mill, with saw marks readily visible on all four sides.

2. DRESSED lumber has been surfaced by a planing machine for smoothness and uniformity in size This may be surfaced one side S1S), two sides (S2S), one edge (S1E), two edges (S2E), or any combination of sides and edges (S1S2E), (S1S1E), or (S2S1E), or surfaced four sides (S4)

3. WORKED lumber has been dressed and also matched, shiplapped or patterned or machined by running through a matching machine, sticker or molder. Matching gives it a tongue on one edge and a groove on the other for close joints. End-matching includes tongue and groove on the ends. Shiplapping involves rabbeting on both edges to provide an overlapped joint.

Softwood lumber also is classified according to its use.

1. YARD lumber, the kind that most home craftsmen are concerned with, refers to all sizes and patterns used for general building purposes. Most yard lumber is 20 feet long and shorter and 12 inches wide and narrower

2. FACTORY AND SHOP lumber is designed for further manufacture into windows, doors, other millwork and box material.

3. STRUCTURAL lumber is 2 inches or more in thickness and width for use where working stresses are called for.

According to the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn., hardwood lumber accounts for only about 25 per cent of the total board foot production of lumber. It is used mostly for furniture, paneling and flooring

DIMENSION hardwood lumber includes any thickness beginning at 2 inches without the 5-inch limitation involved in softwood dimension lumber. And for industrial grades of hardwood, "dimension" covers kiln dried woods processed to the specific requirements of one plant or industry. The word also applies to interior hardwood trim and molding, stair treads and hardwood paneling.

Protect Books In Steel Cans

When the family book case begins to bulge and there is no place to store valuable books and reference magazines, remember that all such material is a fire hazard when it is carelessly tossed into the attic, basement or utility room.

Paper is the chief source of nourishment for most fires, so whenever books and magazines are put into storage, protect them from excessive heat and direct flame.

Fire safety officials point out that one way to do this is to keep old books and magazines in covered galvanized steel garbage cans. These containers can't burn and, in addition, protect books and other valuable papers from damage by moisture and rodents.

Make Ladder Safer

Slip-proof the rungs or steps of your ladder to make it safer. Paint each rung or step with a coat of varnish and wait until it becomes tacky. Then sprinkle sawdust or light sand on the varnish. When the mixture is dry, your footing will be more secure.

Clean Luggage The Easy Way

Final blustery days of winter are good days to think about summer vacationing, and clean the family's luggage in preparation Fill one galvanized steel pail with a soapy water solution and another with clear rinse water. Wipe plastic and leather suitcases with a sudsy cloth and rinse with a clean, damp one. Wash linings with a soft brush or sponge dipped in frothy soapsuds, then remove the suds with a clean damp cloth. Wax plastic and leather surfaces and polish them with a soft cloth.
